VEVEŘÍ CASTLE

Overlooking the Brno Reservoir, Veverí is one of the largest castle complexes in the Czech Republic. First mentioned in 1213 as a site of royal supervision over the settlement of the land upstream along the Svatka River. The castle was significantly expanded in the second half of the 14th century during the rule of Margrave John Henry of Moravia (younger brother of Emperor Charles IV), who made Veverí one of his principal residences.
